LOCAL NEWS.

If you see it in the Townsman, it's news to be relied upon; if it is news and so, you'll see it in the Townsman.

Mrs. C. F. C. Higbee is at the World's Fair, on her way from Indianapolis to her residence in No. Woburn, Mass., where she may spend the summer.

J. A. Gould, who resides on the Hill, has accepted a position on the engineer corps of the Louisville & Nashville railroad, with headquarters at Louisville.

The World's Fair Columbian, a daily paper published in and about the exposition at Chicago, can be found on the tables of the Memorial Hall reading room.

Our snake killer from the south part of the town will have to look after his laurels, for his last record has been put in the shade in West Parish. George Carter killed a black one this week, measuring 4 ft. 3 in. and later Chas. Bailey killed two, measuring 4 ft. 1 in. and 4 ft. 7 in. respectively.

Mrs. Nellie (Clark) Howe visited friends in town this week.

The body of a man terribly mangled was found on the tracks near the railway station at Haggetts Pond, Sunday morning. It is thought that he was stealing a ride on the 4 o'clock morning freight and fell beneath the wheels. He was a sight to behold. The remains have not to our knowledge been identified. They were taken to Lowell.

The Seminary Quartette are to sing one or two selections at the Sunday School Rally next Monday night, and have also kindly consented to lead the singing. Mr. Freese, who was expected to take charge, will not be able to do so.

Miss Jarvis and Miss Scamman have taken the house formerly occupied by Lieut. Williams and intend giving lessons on the piano and in singing and voice culture. They have studied for some years abroad under the care of Prof. Franz Kullak and Frau Johanna Wagner-Jackman of Berlin, Germany.

Lincoln Lodge A. O. U. W. initiated one person Monday evening and at the close refreshments were served and a social time enjoyed. Two members of the Lowell Lodge were present.

The Post Office will be open next Tuesday—Memorial Day—from 7 to 9 A.M. and 5 P.M.

David Hauptert has left the employ of Muster, the carriage painter, and obtained a similar position in Haverhill.

The Niotus Club is preparing for a tennis tournament for members to be held June 17, on its grounds on Railroad Street. After the matches supper will be served on the grounds.

Dubord has commenced work on the cellar of the Waterworks building on Park Street.

Frank E. Gleason has received another of the patent coal dumping wagons.

Miss Reed's dancing class enjoyed a german and reception at the November Club House last Friday evening. It was a fitting close to the series of lessons.

The prohibition club of Phillips Academy has chosen G. H. McClellan as its representative at the State oratorical contest in Boston, June 1.

W. K. Porter and family of Boston will occupy the Morrill house this summer.

The debate between the Garfield Club and Bradford High School Club, announced for next Tuesday night, has been postponed on account of a misunderstanding as to the date.

Congressman Stevens entertained the gentlemen who assisted him in the selection of the candidates for West Parish, at his home in North Andover on Thursday evening.

Rev. G. W. Clough, formerly pastor of the Baptist Church, has moved his family to Mt. Hope, Vt. He will have charge of two churches.

The following is the programme for Sunday School rally at the South Church Monday night:

O gan voluntary, Mr. David Shaw
Hymn, "In the Cross of Christ I Glory," Rev. Mr. Palmer
Reading of Scripture, Rev. Mr. Hodgdon
Prayer, Rev. Mr. Markley
Report of District Secretary, Mr. A. M. Markley
Selection, Mr. W. A. Ba dwin
"Organized Work," Mr. W. A. Ba dwin
Hymn, "Onward Christian Soldiers," Address, "Our Boys To-morrow," Rev. A. E. Winship
Seminary Quartette
Selection, Colection.
Selection, cornet and organ, Mr. Hulme and Mr. Shaw
"The Relative Merits of the International and Blakelee Systems," Rev. Mr. Greene
Question Box. (Topics to be confined to the question of Lesson Helps.)
Hymn, "Blest be the Tie that binds."
Benediction, Rev. Mr. Wilson

The vast facilities of the J. C. Ayer Co. of Lowell, Mass., enable them to place The Superior Blood-purifier—Ayer's Sarsaparilla—within easy reach of the poorest invalid. Don't be induced to take a "cheap" substitute. Always remember that the best is the cheapest.

Joseph A. Dennison began on Monday his new duties as Haverhill manager of the Sunday Telegram.

There will be two performances of Scribner & Smith's circus next Monday afternoon and evening, at the cricket grounds.

Professor Downs has been invited to be one of the judges at the public contest on the evening of June 6, in Sleeper Hall, for the prize medal to be given by the New England Conservatory to the best performer in this year's graduating class. Mr. Carl Baermann is another of the committee, and the selections to be played are the Sonata in D minor, opus 31, No. 2, by Beethoven; a Nocturne by Chopin; and a Scherzo by Mendelssohn.

The entertainment at the Free Church to-night, consisting of the cantata, "Old Friends and New Faces," and other interesting selections, will, without doubt, be very pleasing and well worth the small price of admission, 15 cents; children, 10. The programme will begin at 7.45.

Rev. E. B. Bary of Bangor, Me., formerly of Andover, called on some of his old friends here on Wednesday afternoon, en route from a visit to Chicago, Washington, New York and Philadelphia.

Notes from the Hill and Seminary.

Mr. Bartlett of the Middle class will labor during the summer at Jackman, Me.

The Dakota band of four men will start for their distant field, next Monday.

Mr. Berle of the Senior class has received calls from Tyngsboro' and North Woburn. He has declined the former and is considering the latter.

Mr. Winn of the Senior class has returned from the West and will not settle there for the present. He visited the Chicago Exposition, on his way back.

The last session of the singing class for the season, under the able leadership of Mr. Freese, was held on Monday evening.

Mr. Robt. A. Woods of Boston lectured at the Seminary on "Charles Kingsley," last Wednesday, and will close his very entertaining course with "John Ruskin," on Wednesday next at 11 A.M.

Punchard Cadets win Honors.

The Punchard Cadets covered themselves with glory at the field day of the Second Mass. High School Regiment in Malden last Saturday. They left Andover at 7.50 A.M. accompanied by quite a large number of schoolmates and friends, who supported their colors and cheered on the boys during the whole day.

In the competitive company drill our boys took third place, with 161 points out of a possible 200, jumping up from eighth position which they held last year. They were beaten only by Gloucester and Malden who obtained 188 and 189 respectively. This gives Andover the Majorship of the Andover, Reading and Wakefield battalion and a chance for the upper offices, which are to be decided by examination. But this was not all. In the individual competition, J. Russell Chandler, son of John H. Chandler, captured third prize, a gold medal. There were 20 competitors made up of the best drillers in the ten schools. Chandler's diminutive size and excellent work, won him great applause. J. Lewis Smith also won honor taking a medal for the first prize in putting the shot in the athletic contests.

The splendid showing of the cadets is all the more creditable, because what they have accomplished has been done without the services of a drill-master, which all or nearly all the other schools have. Capt. Eames has been untiring in his efforts and deserved these excellent results. The cadets arrived home about 7 o'clock, marching from the depot to the school, young Chandler being carried on the shoulders of his admirers. Reading has the field day next year.

Phillips Tournament.

The annual Spring Athletic tournament at Phillips Academy, preparatory to that with Exeter June 3, was held Wednesday afternoon. Two records were broken, first in the hurdle race, the previous mark of 19 being reduced to 17.5 sec. The bicycle record was lowered from 3m. 11s. to 3m. 2s. The events resulted as follows:

100 yards—Cowdery, first; Wormelsdorf, second. Time, 10.3-5s.
120-yard hurdle—Thrall, first; McClellan, second. Time, 17.3-5s.
Pole vault—Davis, 8 feet 8 1-2 inches; Mann, 7 feet 7 inches.
Throwing base ball—Manning, 312 feet; Drew, second.
Quarter-mile—Lapham, first; McClellan, second. Time, 56.2-5s.
Shot put—Holt, 34 feet 6 inches; Rodgers, second.
220-yard dash—Cowdery, first; Thrall, second. Time, 24.3-5s.
Half-mile run—Laing, first; Lapham, second. Time, 2m. 11s.
Running high jump—Nettleton, 5 feet; Holt, 4 feet 10 inches.
One-mile bicycle—Hooker, first; Forks, second. Time, 3m. 2s.
Running broad jump—Paige, 19 feet 5 inches; Murphy, 19 feet 4 1-2 inches.
One-mile run—Laing, first; Starbuck, second. Time 5m. 4s.

Over One Hundred Acres Burned.

The engine company had to contend with a vicious brush fire, last Tuesday, near the Butterfield House in the Holt District. The alarm was given about 11 o'clock in the forenoon. The engine and hose carriage got off as soon as possible, only two of the horses being near at hand, and they would not have been had their driver not been fortunate enough to bring the alarm.

The fire was raging fiercely when the firemen arrived, but plenty of water being at hand they fought it well. The old "original" saw-mill was destroyed and a large amount of cut wood. There was also a lot of lumber, but this was saved. It is estimated that some 100 to 150 acres of land were burned over. At one time a house near was threatened and would have been destroyed, but for the work of the firemen. The fire is supposed to have been caused by sparks from the engine in the new steam saw-mill, owned by Mr. Jones of Pelham, to whom the wood and lumber also belonged.

New Magazine.

The Merrimack Valley Manufacturer, a monthly magazine devoted to the manufacturing, business, and industrial interests of the Merrimack Valley, which is announced to make its first appearance June 1, originated in Andover. Its owner and publisher, Israel A. Herriek, is registered as a member of the Junior class at the Seminary.

Miss Katharine H. Barnett has charge of the exchange department and acts as New England and Valley editor for the magazine. She has worked out her department with great care and her excellent work will show in the news departments of the party.

Base Ball.

Phillips Andover had an easy time with the Boston College team last Saturday, the score being 11 to 2. Dowd, the great pitcher of the visiting team, was in the box only the last three innings. If he had pitched the whole game the score would have been close.

Wednesday afternoon Andover won her second game of the season from Tufts College, the final score being 10 to 8. Sedgewick of Phillips was batted quite freely and on the other hand Andover batted the visiting pitcher hard, Donovan making a home run on the first ball pitched. Tufts led at one time 7 to 4, but good batting won for Andover.

The Stars of Lawrence play their third and final game here to-morrow afternoon. Make it three straight, Andover!

Phillips men were elated yesterday over the victory which their nine won from the famous Brown University team. The score was 7 to 2. Paige pitched most effectively for Andover, only one hit being made off his delivery. Brown's two pitchers, McMurray and Bustard were batted quite freely, Millard making a pretty home run drive to deep centre. It was a well-earned victory.

The Yale Varsity nine plays here next Wednesday.

Bequests of Edward Taylor.

The will of the late Edward Taylor, as entered at Probate Court, contains the following bequests: Theo. Semi. scholarship, $1500; American Board of Missions, $1000; American Home Missionary Society, $1000; American Missionary Society, $1000; Memorial Hall Library, $500; Westfield, Mass., Atheneum, $500; Miss Abby Clement, $500; Mrs. Selah Merrill, $7000; Oliver B. Taylor, $5000; Edward, Frank S. and Emma Pond, children of O. B. Taylor, $5000 each; Phillips Academy, $1000 and two-thirds of residuary legacy; Home for Aged of Andover $1000; Hampton Institute, Va., $1500; the Congregational Union of New York the remaining one-third of the residuary legacy and any surplus after payment of bills.

Isn't it lovely? 10-piece toilet set, decorated, only $2.19, well worth $3.00. The Bargain Emporium, 302 to 310 Essex Street, Lawrence.

The G. A. R. and Memorial Hall.

Editor of the Townsman:

As Memorial Day approaches, our minds again naturally revert to the soldiers and the great contest of '61-'65. More especially do our thoughts turn to those who gave their lives for the love of country and whose graves will be tenderly decorated next Tuesday. It was not, however, my purpose in writing this communication to dwell upon this phase of the subject, but to speak of a matter which has occupied the minds of the soldiers of Andover more or less for many years since the Memorial Hall Library was dedicated. Memorial Hall, as I understand it, was intended by the most liberal donor—John Smith—"To commemorate and keep in remembrance the names of those who gave their lives in defending our national flag and saving our country to God and Liberty."

Previously in 1866 the town had voted to raise $4500 towards erecting a soldiers' monument but when the generous proposition of Mr. Smith was made the town voted to apply this sum to the building of the Memorial Hall.

Usually in places where such memorials are erected, the soldiers point with great pride to them and have a great interest in them. Now, unless I am mistaken, and I have conversed with many of the Grand Army men in town, there is no such feeling among the majority of the soldiers here toward the Memorial Hall. Why? Because they feel that they have not the rights in that building that they should and ought to have. They do not for a minute doubt that the Library is a grand thing for the town, but it does not seem to them a memorial in its true sense. The tablets giving the names of the soldiers from Andover, who gave up their lives in the service of their country, are placed in the Hall as they should be, and this brings me to the principal thing I wish to mention, namely, that the Grand Army of this town should have their headquarters in this building. The upper hall, where hang the tablets, should be theirs for meetings or such other purposes as are necessary in carrying on their organization. To me and many others this seems only proper.

This subject has been discussed a great many times by Post 99 G. A. R. with a good deal of feeling, but no determined effort has to our knowledge been made to bring about such a result. It is understood, however, that a request was made of the trustees to this end, but that the conditions placed upon them coming into the hall, were so binding and, we might say out of reason, that the matter was dropped. Smoking was one great barrier, so I am told. While this habit may be objectionable in many respects, who ever heard of a company of soldiers without smokers among them, or would a soldier think a camp-fire complete without the "smoke?" There is no need of its interfering with the lower part of the building used for library purposes.

The Memorial Hall was erected for soldiers, let them have some rights in it, so that instead of hearing from them whenever you mention the subject, the answer "We don't consider it a memorial," they may rather say "We do consider it a memorial and are proud of it." Let us have the views of others on the subject.

Summer Meeting.

The University Extension Summer Meeting to be held in Philadelphia in July, 1893, is the first meeting of this kind in America. There are now over two hundred centres in as many cities, towns and villages in this country, regularly engaged in University Extension work and the number is increasing each month. It is estimated that at least five thousand students during the winter hear University lectures in these centres, in history, literature, science, economics, or other subjects. The Summer Meeting is designed primarily to gather as many of these students as possible for a month's residence at the seat of a great University. The University of Pennsylvania has placed its library, museum, laboratories and other buildings at the disposal of the Summer Meeting, and the most eminent lecturers have been secured from the leading universities of the country for the instruction. Harvard, Yale, Johns Hopkins, Cornell, Pennsylvania, and ten other institutions are represented in the corps of instructors by prominent members of their faculties. The lectures are in courses of from six to twenty hours each, and are supplemented by classes and conferences for the earnest students. R. A. Woods of the Andover House, Boston, will be one of the lecturers.

Full announcement of the Summer Meeting courses, with blank application for enrollment, will be sent to any address, on application to the Director, Fifteenth and Chestnut Streets, Philadelphia.

Hood's Pills cure liver ills. Or any other similar epidemic, the blood and the whole system should be kept in healthy condition. Take Hood's Sarsaparilla to give strength, purify the blood and prevent disease.

How Plants Grow.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS SHOULD TEACH MORE OF ELEMENTARY SCIENCE.

Knowing how our teachers are paid, and remembering, too, that teaching has hardly reached the dignity of an established profession in this country, but is usually taken up by young persons for a few years as a temporary occupation until they can find something better to do, the prospect of securing a corps of instructors who are able to teach the arts of cultivation as thoroughly as they should be taught, seems very remote, says Garden and Forest; but we are convinced that this would be a most valuable part of the education of the rising generation. There is no greater mystery to the ordinary man and woman than the processes of vegetation which go on all about them. Even intelligent men do not know the names of the trees which they pass every day, much less of the grasses and plants they tread upon.

No story is too wonderful for their belief. Reputable newspapers will publish accounts of an extraordinary elm tree somewhere which bears acorns, or of a plant which can accurately foretell the weather, and shapers will go through a village street and sell in almost every house at one dollar each the seeds of some novel plant, which he assures the buyers will bear a flower with all the colors of the rainbow and with a fragrance which can easily be enjoyed a mile away. All this is simply because men do not observe the ordinary outgoings of life about them, and elementary instruction in these matters to the young will give them habits of observation and a knowledge of principles which would make life more interesting to any one, even if he never owned a garden or was the proprietor of a rood of land. If a competent and sympathetic teacher should do no more than devote a portion of a day each week to the work of familiarizing children with plant life and its essential conditions, with the help of living illustrations, the young people would find this the most delightful part of their course of study, and they would acquire knowledge and habits of thought that would be invaluable all through their lives.

Taxing Bicycles.

Here is what the Danvers Mirror says of the idea of taxing bicycles:

If the proposition to tax bicycles is generally carried into effect it will be of great benefit to all who have occasion to ride over the roads, and the bicycle riders themselves will be largely the beneficiaries. Tax bicycle owners and they will demand rights which are not now accorded them. They will influence legislation, local and general, for better roads, which, indeed, are sadly needed in many places, as shown by the recent race against time from Boston to Chicago. Furthermore they will refuse to be driven into the gutters by road-hogs who seem to think a bicyclist has "no valid excuse for living," and if they or their wheels are injured on defective highways, or by collisions caused while trying to avoid such, they will seek damages from the municipality which taxes them for the privilege of riding. As in the case of a woman writing on a single sheet of paper, "there's a good deal to be said on both sides."

The Mass. Ploughman also says in somewhat different vein:

It appears that the assessors of Lowell, Mass., and of Paris, France, propose to levy a tax on bicycles.

The bicycle has come to be almost as essential a daily convenience as a watch or a jackknife; it is not only used as a toy by the well-to-do and sportive youth, but is a very great help to the work-a-day man or woman who happens to live at a little distance from his or her work. To tax these people on their means of conveyance to and from their work would seem almost as unjust as to levy a tax on their tools.

Then, again, how shall the assessor determine the value of these wheels? The cost of a new and improved machine to-day is $150; but the wheels that sold for this price last year are hardly worth half price to-day, in consequence of the rapid improvements made by the inventors and manufacturers; so that the value of the wheels now in use ranges from $10 to $150 each; and it would puzzle even an expert to place a fair value upon them. We need all the means of rapid transit we can get without having it encumbered by taxation. Let us increase the tax on liquor and tobacco if need be, but by all means let us have free wheels for all.

It will cost you nothing and will surely do you good, if you have a Cough, Cold, or any trouble with Throat, Chest or Lungs. Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, is guaranteed to give relief, or money will be paid back. Sufferers from La Grippe found it just the thing and under its use had a speedy and perfect recovery. Try a sample bottle at our expense and learn for yourself just how good a thing it is. Trial bottles free at Arthur Bliss' and H.M. Whitney & Co.'s Drug Stores. Large size, 50c and $1.

Dame Nature

After compelling us to pass through a long series of disappointments at her delay, is putting on her most attractive garb. It is no more than right that all her admirers should follow her example. Permit us to offer a few helpful suggestions. We have a few Columbian Plaids. They are 50 inches wide, strictly all-wool, have never before been sold for less than $1.25. We offer them while they last for the unheard-of price, 75 cts.

12 pieces all-wool Black Henrietta, German manufacture, 38 in. wide, regular price $1, our price 75 cts.

A few more of those 24-inch Printed India Silks; we offer them at 43 cents to close. Positively a bargain at 62 1-2.

Perhaps you are about to graduate. A white dress is almost a necessity. We have a complete line of 40 inch goods at 50 cents per yard.—Henrietta, Nun's Veiling, Albatross and India Twill. Finer grades at 75 cents and $1.00.

1 lot 40 in. Lansdownes, finest quality, silk and wool, $1 per yard, in shades appropriate for all occasions—Cream White, Dove, Salmon, Nile, Tan, Blue, Golden Brown, Reseda and Heliotrope.

Eva Beraw
Bradford, Mass.

"About 4 years ago my little girl, Eva, who was then 4 years old, had a scrofula trouble with one of her eyes. For 8 months she had to keep it bandaged from the light. We tried everything the best medical advice would suggest for two years, keeping her out of school all that time, but nothing appeared to do her a particle of good. We feared that she would entirely."

Lose the Sight of the Eye

Artistic Photographs.

We wish to call attention to the fact that this is the only Studio in the city making a specialty of Crayon and Pastel Portraits of the Finest Quality. We have more samples and better grade than can be seen in any other Studio. Don't be "worked" on cheap Bromide Prints—they fade. We are sole agents for Calcott's Patent Mounts, a beautiful Souvenir for the Holidays. We have adopted scaled prices for cabinet work, but still retain their general excellence. We also carry an exquisite line of Portrait Frames, all of New and Artistic Designs. You are invited to call and inspect them and judge for yourself.

MAY STORE NEWS.

"How's trade?" "Quiet; how's it with you?" "Well, nothing extra."

The above remarks were exchanged on Essex Street this week by a couple of business men who seldom talk that way. It must be that the damp weather has had a depressing effect on their spirits as well as their sales. Such a state of affairs was never known to exist here. We make business, rain or shine, it's all the same to us, and whether we make or lose, we are bound to sell the goods. The kicker kicks, the growler growls, and they both carry their stocks over to another season, but the wide-awake retailer creates a demand for his goods by offering

A CARD

TO THE CITIZENS OF ANDOVER:

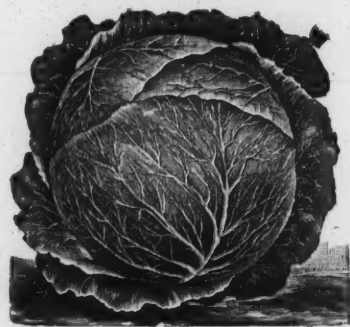

The undersigned has associated himself with Mr. R. Lambert Greaves of Albany, N. Y., and will hereafter carry on the business under the style of J. M. Bradley & Co. In making the change we have had to take account of stock and in doing so, find an excess of Woolen Goods which has been bought with the intention of opening another store in a neighboring city. This change makes that for the present undesirable. So it is my desire to make a special effort to turn the same into cash as soon as possible. To carry out which, we have concluded to make a special sale of a special line of goods, the prices of which will speak for themselves, so that those who desire anything in the way of Custom Clothing will do well to call on us and look over the same at the earliest moment, for in the lot there will be some excellent bargains. As in the past no pains will be spared to please those who favor us with their orders. I desire at this time to thank those whose generous patronage in the past has aided me in carrying on successfully the business through times when it seemed impossible for me to attend to it and to solicit from them a continuance of the same liberal patronage under the new order of things.

FRIDAY, MAY 26, 1893.

The death of James E. Murdock, the veteran actor and public reader, removes one who had done much in his long life to elevate the tone of public entertainments. Thousands who have listened to his rich voice will regret to learn of his demise. It was for him to recite on a public occasion that "Sheridan's Ride" was originally written by T. Buchanan Read.

The new U. S. cruiser "New York" had her acceptance trial, on a course off the Massachusetts and New Hampshire coasts, last Monday, and beat the world's record on speed. The average time on the first half of the trip was 20.78 miles per hour, and on the second half 21.36; mean average for 83 1-2 miles, 21.07 miles per hour. Europe must try again.

The Massachusetts House of Representatives have passed a bill in favor of 56 hours per week for operatives in all industrial concerns. This is a blow at manufacturers, in response to the demand of demagogues. The real workingmen, with intelligence and a sense of justice, are not advocates of extreme measures. They remember the fable of the man who owned a hen which laid golden eggs.

Ex-Gov. John D. Long is by no means in retirement, spite of his preference for leaving the halls of Congress. He has for two or three years been chairman of the commission having in charge the extension of the State House at Boston on an extensive scale, and now Pres. Cleveland has appointed him on the Board of Visitors to the Naval Academy at Annapolis. He adorns every place he attempts to occupy, and some day we hope to see him a Senator at Washington.

By vote of Congress, two distinguished Spaniards, with their suites, are the guests of the nation at this time, apropos to the Columbian exposition. One is the Duke of Veragua, whose arrival and official reception have already been chronicled in these columns. He is a lineal descendant of Christopher Columbus and has not only seen Washington and Chicago, but under proper escort has visited other parts of our land. Within a few days, a member of the royal family of Spain, the Infanta (or Princess) Eulalia, has also arrived on our shores and has received marked attentions from Pres. Cleveland and other dignitaries of our government. These international amenities are very gratifying incidents.

Sunday at Chicago.

A very animated contest is in progress, as to the opening of the gates of the great fair at Chicago on Sunday. Congress appropriated several millions in aid of the enterprise, with the distinct proviso that the exposition should be closed on the weekly sabbath. Thus far that rule has been enforced, so far as paid admissions by the public are concerned, although on various pretexts thousands have gained an entrance on workmen's passes and by other such devices. The Chicago city council voted unanimously in favor of opening, in spite of Congress, and the local Directory, by a large majority, voted in the same way, adding a resolution in favor of returning to the national treasury the amount appropriated by Congress.

On the other hand, hundreds of religious organizations have passed votes against reversing the action of the national legislative body. The Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor have been especially active in this work, and their principal secretary, Mr. Baer of Boston, has been to Washington to interview the President and the Attorney-General. He received assurances that, if the local influence should succeed in opening the gates, the administration at Washington will exert their power to the utmost for their defeat. The line is now sharply drawn, and we expect to see the Sunday of our fathers triumphant.

We publish to-day several communications brought out by the article in relation to the post office published in last week's issue.

We regret very much that our space should have been given to the discussion of this question on lines that seem to us now to be so personal, and with the answers of to-day published in fairness to the many friends of Mr. Bradley, and to the gentleman himself, we shall close the matter so far as the TOWNSMAN is concerned. The TOWNSMAN has always endeavored to be fair and courteous to all correspondents, giving to them every possible concession as to space and freedom of expression, but when such concessions are abused by using space for the purpose of venting personal feeling it seems to be time to make some stringent rules for admitting communications.

The matter of a new postmaster seems to be settled, and we trust that the bad feeling engendered by what has come out in the heat of the fight may soon pass away. The winner of the contest and the defeated one are gentlemen who command the eminent respect of all Andover citizens, whatever way they may have divided said citizens over the post office question.

Special Town Meeting.

The special town meeting Monday night was well attended for such an event, over one hundred being present, and considerable interest was shown in the different articles. Town clerk Marland called the meeting to order at 8 o'clock and read the Warrant. Geo. H. Poor was unanimously elected moderator—one vote being cast.

ARTICLE 2—"To elect a board of sewer commissioners, to consist of three persons for terms of one year, two years and three years respectively from the next annual town meeting," was discussed by several gentlemen. Peter D. Smith made a motion to elect three commissioners and to use the check lists. Before this was put, several spoke making inquiries as to why it was necessary to elect them now and suggesting that a report be given by the committee, appointed at the last town meeting, before going farther.

Dr. Abbott said that the committee thought it best to have the commissioners elected early, as it might possibly save the town some money in the end. It would be better to have them spend the $1500, as appropriated by the town, than for the committee to do it, and then have a new board take up the work after the next town meeting. After some little discussion, bringing out no new facts, it was voted to proceed with the election. There was only one ticket in the field, the same as suggested in the TOWNSMAN last week, and the ballot resulted as follows:

Whole number cast, 66
Dr. C. E. Abbott, for one year, 63
John L. Smith, for two years, 63
Wm. S. Jenkins, for three years, 66

It was then voted that the drainage committee be discharged and the appropriation of $1500 turned over to the new commissioners.

ARTICLE 3 related to the Ware sidewalk fund, which was left a number of years ago for the purpose of building a sidewalk on the east side of Main Street from Chapel Avenue to the Town Hall. The sum was originally $1000, but now amounts to about $1500. After reading the provisions of the will and the chairman of the Selectmen having stated that a concrete sidewalk could be made with in the amount, J. Francis Gulliver made the following remarks:

My objections to the use of the Ware sidewalk fund are only to the probable methods of laying it judged by work now in progress.

The condition of the concrete walk on the west side of Main Street naturally calls for an answer to the question what has burst and tipped the surface into its present condition. The reply is frost. What gives the frost its leverage? The answer is water that saturates the ground underlying the concrete. Is the town to learn how to lay walks by its own experience? The first walk was guaranteed by its builder. Who thinks any damages can be collected from him? The answer is now being laid on Pumphard Avenue are on practically the same plan. No provision for removing water from under the concrete and the same result will follow except that as the present walk is wider it may be broken into fragments not so very disagreeable and dangerous as the old one.

A very simple application to the Park Department of Boston, Hartford, or Albany would secure a copy of the specification followed in their work which is expected to remain practically permanent. Why then should we expend $1500 because a man who owns a tar kettle and a roller warrants it. He gets his money when the work is finished and he is satisfied.

Let us rather secure our own warranty by determining how a permanent foot-walk should be built that water will not undermine nor frost heave and distort. The surface coating is but a part of the preparation required and a wasteful and short-lived one without a substructure, and where necessary tile pipe drains below the concrete.

Let us have foot walks—miles of them if possible, but let us take advantage of the success of others, and not put the Ware fund into a method of construction more likely to produce crackle ware than a permanent foot way.

It was finally voted that the Selectmen be authorized to use the Ware sidewalk fund under the provisions of the will and that the money be obtained from any available source.

ARTICLE 4—On motion of J. F. Gulliver, it was voted to appropriate the sum of one hundred dollars to purchase of W. S. Jenkins a small lot of land opposite the railroad station for material to be used in repairing town ways. The moderator stated that the effect of the purchase was two-fold. It is a very unsightly plot of ground and an eyesore to the public. It contains a large quantity of material, which can be used to a great advantage on our highways. After using this it could be smoothed over and made more pleasing to the sight.

That Post Office Again.

As a republican I felt that I had no immediate concern in the contest for the postmastership, believing as I do that our democratic victors should be left to their own sense of fitness and propriety in dividing the spoils. Accustomed as I am to the really charming amenities of local republican harmony, I was shocked to see the communication of "Democrat" in last week's TOWNSMAN, for it gives us a fresh example of the perils of success.

But I think "Democrat" has made an unequalled for criticism upon our congressman and an unjust attack upon our townsman whom he calls the "Boss," referring, as you say editorially and as every local reader knows, to Hon. Joseph M. Bradley. I do not wish to discuss the two candidates for the post office further than to say that from long acquaintance with both of them I know the public interests will not suffer if either is appointed. Congressman Stevens has an undoubted right to endorse Mr. Bradley. Knowing both candidates as he does he is answerable to no one for his preference, and it is not probable that the foundations of the government will be shaken or the political fortunes of the congressman be very much disturbed by this trivial incident.

Mr. Bradley is a recognized power in the democratic camp and an indefatigable worker for the success of his party, as is his privilege. Where one so well known as he is publicly accused of treachery to Mr. Sweeney, without the latter's consent or knowledge, by a gratuitous champion who desires, not the appointment of Mr. Sweeney but of Mr. Goldsmith, or anybody to beat Bradley, by one who writes so glibly of "trickery, deals and jobbery" in his denunciation of our genial townsman, the ex-senator, and who claims that his views are shared by "many of the most reputable business men in the business portion of the town," I feel that "Democrat" has taken off too large a claim, as they say in the far West, and has allowed his too apparent personal dislike for Mr. Bradley to lead him to extravagance of statement which does not meet the approval of Mr. Bradley's neighbors, irrespective of party.

JOHN J. SWEENEY.
Andover, May 25, 1893.

DEAR SIR.—The communication in your issue of the 19th inst., signed "Democrat," was an attack of a vituperous nature by one who is indebted to me for many favors and material assistance, and who should have been the last one in Andover to make it. It was certainly a surprise to me that such an article should have been published at all, especially since it purported to be in the interest of a gentleman who was a candidate for a public office, whose case deserved a more upright and gentlemanly pleading.

But since it has been published, I presume the author will feel better that he has had a chance to put in print the venom and spite his lips have given utterance to in every place where he thought it safe to do so, or where he thought he could lower me in the estimation of the public who have been so generous to me in the past.

His evident desire was to create an impression upon the public mind that the writer wrote from a high sense of public duty, and a fear that the post-office might fall into the hands of one who was absolutely unfit for that position or anything else but "low ward politics." Obnoxious to the business community generally, and many democrats. This desire, no doubt, led him to the conclusion that he had better not sign the name of "Joseph A. Denison," but rather that of "Democrat," doubtful though his democracy is. In regard to such a foe I have no desire to go into any detailed statement, excepting to say that I am fully aware of the fact that to some, such statements are taken for granted, but that I am willing to take the judgment of the public on such matters after I have thrown the mask from the author who did not have the manliness to subscribe his name to his statement, and in a general way to say that I realize that although I have been persistent in my endeavors to promote the interest of the democratic party, in doing so I have always intended to do that which was, as I believed, right, and for the best interest of the public, whether in national, state, or town politics. I shall always endeavor to do the same in any position where I am placed.

JOSEPH M. BRADLEY.

Editor Townsman:

DEAR SIR: In your issue of the 19th inst., a correspondent calling himself a democrat has been pleased to make some very severe remarks against one of our fellow citizens, whose name happened to be considered for the post-office appointment, and while he eulogizes Mr. Goldsmith and criticizes Mr. Stevens for recommending Mr. Bradley, he failed to cover up his evident desire to vent his personal spleen on Mr. Bradley. If current rumor is correct in regard to the party who wrote the letter, he is the last person to put any stigma on the character of a man we all know so well. He said his views are shared by many of the most reputable business men of this town. I fail to find one who is willing to acknowledge such an opinion. I have known Mr. Bradley for the last seven years, and although his politics are opposed to mine, I have the highest respect for him, and believe him to be hard-working and industrious. His success in Andover proves this, and I am also willing to give him credit for doing what he believes to be right, and doing it in an open-handed straight-forward manner, and what more do any of us want who differ politically? I do not believe in such attacks, and wish to utter my protest as a business man against any such personality as that democrat indulges in.

ON THE STREET.

To the Editor of the Andover Townsman: In reply to that part of the letter in the last issue of your paper concerning me, I would like to say in justice to Mr. Bradley and myself that I withdrew from the contest of my own accord. I went in as a candidate at the instigation of my friends, who constituted 65 per cent of the Democracy of Andover, but the fight became so bitter, and thinking Mr. Bradley the stronger candidate, I withdrew. I feel that the accusation was most unjust to Mr. Bradley, who has always tried to further the cause of Democracy. And I wish to enter my protest as a Democrat against such accusations as the person who signs himself as a Democrat makes against him.

JOHN J. SWEENEY.
Andover, May 25, 1893.

Wm. G. Goldsmith gets the Post Office.

Ever since last March the great question has been, "Who will be the next Postmaster?" You can now rest easy for it was practically settled Tuesday when President Cleveland appointed "for Postmaster at Andover Wm. G. Goldsmith, vice Abraham Marland resigned." It is a well known fact that the candidates for this position were Mr. Goldsmith, John J. Sweeney, and more recently, Joseph M. Bradley. It has been a hard struggle between the first and last named, and almost every influence was brought to bear. It has been generally understood that Congressman Stevens favored Mr. Bradley, while the Postmaster General inclined to Mr. Goldsmith. Just what settled the question we cannot state. However, Mr. Goldsmith has been appointed and the conservative element seems to have won.

The new Postmaster, although he is in reality an ex-Postmaster, is too well known through his life-long residence in this town to need any introduction or special comment at our hands. A few facts concerning his early history may be interesting. Mr. Goldsmith was born in Andover Nov. 28, 1832. He graduated from Harvard and studied law in the office of N. W. Hazen and at the Law School in Cambridge until Dec. 1858. He assumed the principality of the Pumphard School Nov. 1, 1858, and held this position until April, 1870, when he resigned. Fire had caused the suspension of this school, but it was re-opened in '71 and Mr. Goldsmith re-elected principal, continuing in this capacity until he became Postmaster under Cleveland's former term in Dec., 1885. In the interim between his resignation and re-appointment, he was Peabody Instructor of Science at Phillips Academy, and after the death of Dr. Taylor was acting principal.

We wish him a successful administration in the Post Office.

A Would be Critic Criticised.

Editor of the Townsman: According to Ben Johnson, criticism had not reached a science in his day and judging by a recent criticism of a drama produced by local talent it seems hardly to have reached a science in ours. But it would be hardly fair to expect a criticism from one who never attempted such a thing before, and taking into consideration the diffidence which is always apparent in our maiden efforts, and which becomes young manhood, and also his unfamiliarity with this branch of literature it is not surprising that his first attempt failed, and that he simply gave to the public his view of the play, that is how the play struck him, he wrote as one bright, intelligent boy would write and, undoubtedly, as he grows older and continues to write to his friends about the different plays he has witnessed, he will gradually form the habit of criticism. He even now shows promise. Those of us who read his little article in the L. A. were convinced that he was there and witnessed the play. This cannot be said of every would-be-critic, and as was said of the play, he deserves great credit for performing as well as he did a part to which he was so poorly adapted both by age and other necessary qualifications. I assert with the greatest seriousness that one who does creditably that which should have been assigned to another is deserving of the greatest praise. You, too, Mr. Critic, were unfortunate enough to be assigned the wrong part. Had you managed the curtain or superintended the foot-lights your success had been assured, and still I mistrust that you accomplished the purpose for which you were sent, you gave the name of the play and the names of the actors, in other words you did the best you could, we expect no more. Take this for your motto my young friend:

"Gentle little Mary Wood
Always did the best she could,
Let us follow Mary's plan
And always do the best we can."

Obituary.

EDWARD TAYLOR.

In the death of Mr. Edward Taylor, which occurred last Sunday morning, May 21, Andover loses one of its most respected and influential citizens. For more than fifty years he had been connected with the principal religious, educational and business interests of the town, and he had done his full share of public service.

He was born of an honored ancestry, being the seventh in descent from Rev. Edward Taylor, who came from England in 1668, was graduated from Harvard in 1811, and after a brief service at the college went out to Westfield, then a frontier town, where he organized the first church in that place and became its first pastor. On his mother's side he was in the eighth generation from Elder Brewster, who came over in the Mayflower with the Pilgrim colony of Plymouth in 1620.

He was born in what is now Huntington, Mass., March 29, 1817, and attained the good age of 76 years one month and 22 days. His father, Jonathan Taylor, and his mother, Harmony Brewster, were for many years residents of Andover and their memory is perpetuated in Phillips and Abbot Academies respectively. First at the Academy in Lenox and afterwards at Westfield Academy he fitted for college, but ill state of his health turned him aside from the plan of going to college and studying for the Christian ministry. His religious convictions and the desire to become a minister, and the character of the education which he received with this end in view, gave direction to his whole subsequent career, preparing him directly for the religious and educational work which occupied so much of his life and to which he gave so much of his charity.

In 1845 he came to Boston and secured employment as a book-keeper. There he attracted the favorable notice of the late Benjamin Pynchard, who induced him to come to Andover in the employ of the Marland Manufacturing Company. Shortly after he was for over a year cashier of the Andover Bank, but returned to the Marland Mills, where he remained till 1862, when he was chosen Treasurer of Phillips Academy. He succeeded Rev. John L. Taylor, D. D., who had been transferred to a professorship. This office he held till his health gave way in the spring of 1880, a period of twenty-one years which he used to speak of as being his real life work.

This position, involving a large financial responsibility and the care of a large property, brought him into friendly acquaintance with hundreds of young men preparing themselves for the ministry, and thousands of boys in the Academy, and into association with professors, teachers, trustees, and visitors, and with the friends and benefactors of these institutions and others like them, so that his early purpose of securing a liberal education and becoming a minister almost reached its fulfillment. He was a trustee till his death, and for a time trustee of the Pynchard Free School, and of Abbot Academy.

His character and experience called him into many places of responsibility and trust. For many years he was a director of the Andover Savings Bank, of the Merrimack Valley Mutual Insurance Co., and of the Andover National Bank. Of the latter he was president several years, succeeding Prof. John L. Taylor, and in turn succeeded by Hon. Moses T. Stevens. For several years he was town clerk, and for several years town treasurer, and twice he represented this district in the Massachusetts Legislature. It is a good illustration of his character that he gave to North Andover and to Andover the sum of two hundred dollars as a fund for the relief of the poor, the same having been voted to the members of the house by themselves as extra compensation, a measure which seemed to him contrary to sound policy.

Mr. Taylor was an active member of the South Church and parish, a deacon for over forty years, superintendent of the Sunday School for fifteen years, treasurer, treasurer of the Ministerial Fund, and a member of almost every important committee. For many years he has resided in the house on Main Street which he purchased of the estate of Amos Blanchard, and there he made a home for his father and mother in their declining years. Since the death of his mother, his niece, Mrs. Selah Mould, a brother, two nephews, and two nieces survive him. In 1870 Mr. Taylor had a serious illness, and although he made a remarkable and unexpected recovery, he began from that time to spare himself, and to lay down one after another his various responsibilities. The last time he went out was to attend the annual meeting of the Insurance Company. His decline was gradual and he was confined to his room for a few days only.

Funeral services were held at the house on Tuesday, Prof. E. C. Smyth officiating, and the burial was in the Chapel Cemetery. The bearers were W. S. Jenkins, J. F. Kimball, George Gould, Alpheus H. Hardy, and Prof. John Phelps Taylor.

Mr. Taylor illustrated the best Puritan virtues—industry, frugality, thoroughness, constancy, simplicity, self-denial, generosity, public spirit, philanthropy. With strong convictions and great strictness in his own life, he had a real sympathy for others and a liberal temper towards the opinions and the conduct of his fellow-men. Reserved of speech and unobtrusive in manner, he could on occasion speak with convincing directness and honesty, and he often showed a depth of interest and feeling which was stronger than words. He commanded the confidence of all; he had many and true friendships; intimacies he had none. His private charities were numerous and silent. He was a regular and generous giver to colleges and religious societies, and did his all share in local benevolence. Above all, his Christian principles and consistent conduct and character made him a power in the community and a blessing to the world.

Memorial Day Programme.

Below is presented the order of Memorial exercises as presented by Adjutant Charles Greene of Post 99. Next Sunday Gen. Wm. F. Bartlett Post 99 G. A. R. will attend divine services at the West Parish Church at 10.30 A.M. W. F. Bartlett Relief Corps No. 127 and Walter L. Raymond Camp No. 111 Sons of Veterans will accompany the Post.

Memorial Day, May 30, the Post will assemble at headquarters at 8 o'clock A.M. At 8.30 the line will be formed and march to Memorial Hall, where the tablet will be decorated. At 8.45 the line will again form and march to the Town Hall where the following programme will be carried out at 9 o'clock.

Music by Andover Brass Band; Singing by a chorus from the Pynchard School; prayer by Rev. T. A. Hodgdon of Ballardvale; singing by chorus from Pynchard School, led by Miss Lucia Merrill; oration by Col. Henry Stone, Boston; music, "America," by chorus and audience. Immediately after these exercises the line will be formed in front of the Town Hall in the following order: Platoon of police; Andover Brass Band; Pynchard Free School Cadets; Walter L. Raymond Camp 111, Sons of Veterans; Gen. Wm. F. Bartlett Post 99 G. A. R.; Woman's Relief Corps and chorus, in barges; orator, citizens. Route of procession: Main Street to Morton, Morton to School, School to South Cemetery. After decorating the graves at the South and Episcopal cemeteries the Post will return to the G. A. R. Hall, and take barges for the West Church, where the line will be formed, and march to the cemetery, and the usual exercises be performed there. A detail will visit the Chapel, Spring Grove and Catholic Cemeteries. A committee will be in attendance at the Town Hall to receive flowers. A cordial invitation is extended to all soldiers, sailors, and sons of veterans to take part in the exercises. A list of the graves to be decorated in this town on Memorial Day is as follows:

Pynchard Cadets Banqueted.

The Pynchard Cadets were a happy lot of boys last night and not without reason for they were fully enjoying an excellent banquet at the school hall. It was given them by James B. Smith, Capt. Eames, the teachers of the school, and past officers of the Cadets, in return for their success at Malden last Saturday. G. W. Wiggins was the caterer and gave good satisfaction. After a hearty discussion of the tempting viands, the company was given the order, "Attention," and several speeches followed. Among the speakers were Rev. Frederic Palmer, Representative James B. Smith, Principal Baldwin, the past officers and others. It was a very pleasing occasion and thoroughly enjoyed by all the participants.

BALLARDVALE.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fischer celebrate their silver wedding to-night. The principal exercises will be held at the Cosmopolitan Club House.

New four-light windows are being put into the old schoolhouse building, a much-needed improvement, as the old ones looked badly.

The appeal to the railroad authorities, asking them to stop the train now leaving Boston at 5 o'clock at this station does not seem to have had much effect. The discontinuance of this train is a serious blow to the growth of the place, and another attempt should be made to have the railroad people reconsider their action.

There is an unusual amount of repairing, building and painting being done in the village all of which tends to beautify the place. The house occupied by Chas. Greene is being re-painted, and Mrs. Galvin's house on Chester Street is receiving a coat of paint. John Dearborn is very busy and has all he can do to satisfy his customers.

Charles Hoffmann and Louis Krangel left for Germany Monday morning. A party of nearly a hundred were at the depot to say farewell.

A brush fire in the swamp on the Simmons estate north of the pottery necessitated calling out the firemen Tuesday afternoon. There was no damage done.

The liberty pole in the square has had its top-mast raised to its usual summer attitude, and the entire pole has been re-painted.

Mr. Price is having a large addition built on to the house on Chester Street, lately bought by him from A. T. Clark.

M. E. Clemons is constructing a tennis court near his Mount Pleasant home.

The Chilton Paint Co. does not make a fire-proof paint. If they did what a business they would do among the farmers. Fire-proof paint for outside work has never yet been a success. Many people are prejudiced against mixed paints, possibly rightly, too, at least they think so; but let them lay aside their prejudices, get a good painter, some Chilton Paint, and follow instructions. The stronger they were against us the better we like it, for once convinced of the superior qualities of Chilton Paint, they will use no other. The instructions are, mainly, to have the paint applied to a dry surface. The painter who is not afraid of brushing his paint out, stretching it, as it were, is the man who will do for you the best work, and use the least paint in doing it. Chilton Paint Co., New York and Boston.

Cricket.

The first scheduled game played by the Andover Cricket Club was with the Lawrence Athletics last Saturday, on the home grounds. The Andover team batted first, and were retired for 52 runs; Gordon leading the batting with 15 runs; Bruce coming next with 12. For the Athletics W. Porter led in bowling, with 7 wickets for 28 runs. The Athletics were retired for 20 runs. The Andovers then batted a second time and scored 144 runs for 9 wickets, Gordon having 46; not out, Lowe 33, Bruce 27, and Kydd 17.

To-morrow the following team will represent Andover against the B. A. A. team at Longwood: Capt. Bruce, Gordon, Haddon, Ripley, Saunders, Lowe, Pearson, Greig, Coates, Wyld, White. Reserves: Porter, Barrett, Wikkie, Lawson. Umpire, Lawson. The same team will represent Andover next Tuesday against the Chelsea. Game to begin at 10.30.

The junior members of the Cricket Club held a meeting last Monday evening and elected James Lowe, Jr., captain, and George Greig, vice-captain.

"The flowers that bloom in the Spring" are not more vigorous than are those persons who purify their blood with Ayer's Sarsaparilla. The fabled Elixir Vitae could scarcely impart greater vitality to the countenance than this wonderful medicine.

Andover Wheelmen.

The first run of the Andover Wheelmen will take place on Saturday, May 27th, at 2.30 P.M. In the evening at 8 o'clock there will be a house warming in the new Club Room on Park Street, and also a flag presentation. Come one, come all, and show your loyalty to the Andover Wheelmen.

SWIFTEST AFLOAT.

The New York Proves Herself to Be Without a Peer.

Extraordinary Time Made on Her Trial Trip—A Triumphant Exhibition of American Skill and Ingenuity.

BOSTON, May 23.—The quiet city of Gloucester, nestled behind the rocky hills of Cape Ann, was off the port beam of the cruiser New York at 9 o'clock yesterday. Twenty-five minutes later a red flag was broken out at the port yard arm and she went over the line making 180 revolutions per minute. The steam pressure was then 165 pounds to the square inch, and the vessel

Making a Trifle Over 30 Knots. In a few minutes the revolutions jumped up to 135 and the steam to 170 pounds, both of which were held throughout the entire trip. Now the great furnace began to roar in the very bowels of the ship and immense lumps of burnt coal were driven out of the funnel by the powerful blowers. Thick and fast they fell until the surrounding decks looked like the land at the base of a volcano.

On flow the great cruiser, Increasing Her Speed at Every Jump. The Nina was passed at 9:45, the Bennington at 10:05, and the Fern, the half way mark, at 10:21. Then came the tug Fortuna at 10:41, the Leyden at 11:05, and finally the historic old Kearsarge at 11:25. The rigging of the corvette was black with men who cheered the warship as she passed. A neat turn was made, and the race back over the course began.

At 11:40 the Kearsarge was off the starboard beam, with the New York headed to the southward. The Leyden was passed at 12:04, the Fortuna at 12:27, the Fern at

THE KEARSARGE, WHICH MARKED THE TURN AT CAPE PORPOISE.

12:46, the Bennington at 1:01 p. m., the Nina at 1:20 and the Vesuvius at 1:41. The entire course was 41.60 nautical miles, which was steamed over twice.

On the First Run the speed was 20.85 knots and the second 21.35, the difference being due to the tide which was against the vessel on the trip north. The average of the two speeds gives 21.09 knots, with a possibility of its being greater when the true current correction is added. On the whole yesterday's record was a triumph for American skill and ingenuity, and will stand pre-eminently until some of our new warships beat it.

Pinkerton Named For Governor. ATTLEBORO, Mass., May 25.—The Chronicle comes out editorially for Hon. Alfred S. Pinkerton for governor, saying that for many reasons "he is one of the strongest candidates who could be selected, and if the choice of the people could be directed to him, we should support him heartily, confident that he would be elected, and certain that he would fill the high office with credit, dignity and ability."

A Salem Paper Suspends Publication. SALEM, Mass., May 23.—The Salem Register, a semi-weekly paper, established in 1800, and now conducted by C. W. Palfrey and E. N. Walter, yesterday announced its suspension in an editorial notice. The senior editor, who is now 80 years of age, has been in active service for 55 years, and the junior editor since 1855, beginning as a reporter.

Helping the Industrials. HARTFORD, May 24.—George H. Day, president of the Pope Manufacturing company, explained to the board of trade a plan of the company for bettering the condition of its employees. It is to set apart 100 acres for homes for its 1500 employees. The men can select lots, and pay for the houses to be erected by monthly installments.

Couldn't Stand the Strain. BIDEFORD, Me., May 24.—A section of the dam at Union Falls, eight miles from here, has given way under the high pressure from the rains, and the gates which regulate the supply of water for the factories here have gone out. The dam and gates belonged to the Saco Water Power company and it will cost $5000 to replace them.

Ex-Mayor Honey's Victory. NEWPORT, May 24.—The special election to fill the legislative vacancy caused by the death of Representative-elect Henry R. A. Carey proceeded quietly. A large vote was polled, and the Democratic candidate, ex-Mayor Samuel R. Honey, was elected by a majority larger than any cast in the April general election.

Gets $15,000 Alimony. BOSTON, May 24.—In the divorce session the Gooch case was called up. Alimony of $15,000 and $250 for fees of counsel were the amounts awarded the libellant, May R. Gooch, in her proceeding against W. W. Gooch, the libellee. Gooch is the lawyer who is said to have eloped with a Back Bay heiress.

Governor Russell Laid Up. CAMBRIDGE, Mass., May 24.—Governor Russell will not be able to attend to his official duties for several days. He is suffering from a severe attack of lumbago, and has been instructed by his physician to rest.

Tried to Kill Himself. HARTFORD, May 24.—John Freeman, a crazy prisoner in the police station, tried to hang himself in a cell last night with his suspenders. An officer discovered him, and by prompt work brought him to.

MAINE'S GREAT DAY.

Formal Dedication of Her Buildings at the World's Columbian Exposition.

CHICAGO, May 24.—Every one attached to the Maine building wore his Sunday clothes today. This was in honor of the dedication of the building. Visitors came out to the grounds early, and went at once to the state building, where they looked upon everything of interest.

At the dedication ceremonies Hon. Hall C. Burleigh, president of the Maine board of World's fair managers, delivered the building to Governor Cleaves, representing the state of Maine. Governor Cleaves then tendered the building to the public. A response was made in behalf of Maine born citizens and the public by Hon. John N. Jewett of Chicago. This was followed by a recitation by Miss Georgia Cayvan and music on the harp by Miss Harriett A. Shaw of Boston.

QUARTER MILLION LOSS.

Destruction by Fire of a Tannery Covering 100 Acres.

SALEM, Mass., May 24.—The worst fire that ever occurred in this city took place last night, and entirely destroyed the enormous factory of Poor Bros., also the Lynn brass foundry, entailing a loss of about $250,000. The tannery is located at the corner of Broadway and Nelson avenue, and takes in over 100 acres of land, which is used in carrying on the immense business. The buildings are the finest of any tannery in this part of the country, and, being of wood, they made easy work for the spreading flames.

The fire gained such headway before assistance arrived that, notwithstanding the combined strength of the departments of Lynn, Peabody, Beverly and this place, it leveled every structure on this big area.

"Dr." Thompson Sentenced. BOSTON, May 25.—After numerous delays occasioned by alleged sickness, Mrs. Sophia Thompson was brought to sentence in the superior criminal court yesterday. On the verdict of "guilty of criminal malpractice," which was returned some weeks ago, Judge Braley sentenced the woman to five years at Sherborn. The sentence was comparatively light, but a consideration of the prisoner's age probably had weight with the judge. Sophia Thompson is now 73 years of age.

Editors Get Offices. CHICAGO, May 22.—Walter Williams of Missouri and Horace J. Knapp of New York were nominated for president of the National Editorial Association. Williams was elected by 140 to 133. J. B. Eddy of Oregon was chosen first vice president; James H. Duke of Mississippi, second vice president; Edwin Herbert of Kansas, third vice president; Joseph M. Page of Illinois, corresponding secretary. Treasurer Gibbs was re-elected.

A "Joke" on Yale Sophs. NEW HAVEN, May 24.—The liberty pole on the local green was found adorned with two Yale flags yesterday. The upper one read "Yale, '96," and the lower one "To h— with '95." The sophomores spent over an hour in unsuccessful attempts to lower the flags, the jokers having greased the pole. Finally a professional steeple climber was hired, and after a hard struggle he succeeded in displacing the offensively emblems.

Charged With Murder. BOSTON, May 24.—Charles S. Lake was brought before Judge Forsyth in the criminal court on the charge of having murdered Harry Kinston on May 19. The prisoner is charged with having pushed Kinston back into the waters of the Charles river, where he was drowned on the date mentioned above. Lake was committed without bail to the Charles street jail pending an investigation.

Serious Crime Charged. HAVERHILL, Mass., May 22.—Inspector of Police Durgin arrested, near Kingston, N. H., Edward Goodwin, charged with a felonious assault on the 4-year-old daughter of William H. Sturgis at Riverside Friday. Goodwin was employed by Sturgis as a driver, and it is alleged that he befriended the girl to the barn and seriously injured her.

Yale Senior a Thief. NEW HAVEN, May 22.—James S. Dwight, a member of the senior class in Yale University, was arrested charged with theft. Dwight admitted his guilt, and gave up an overcoat, several gold rings, diamond studs and gold and silver trinkets won by his friends at preparatory schools and college. The property recovered is worth about $125.

Persistent Incendiarism. GREAT BARRINGTON, Mass., May 22.—The stock in the stockrooms of the Hurlburt Paper company at South Lee was damaged $25,000 by fire and water. The fire originated in the attic. It was incendiary, and was the third attempt made to burn the mills.

A Bull's Savage Attack. RIDGEFIELD, Conn., May 24.—George Ryder, a prosperous farmer, is dying at his home as the result of an attack made upon him by a bull. The bull knocked him down and plunged its horns through the lower part of his body, lacerating his hip and stomach.

Crushed to Death. CONCORD, N. H., May 24.—William M. Ross, aged 42, foreman of the New England granite works in this city, was crushed to death by a heavy stone falling on him. He leaves a widow and six children in Quincy, Mass.

The Sleep of Death. WESTFIELD, Mass., May 24.—John McLaughlin was killed last night about a mile west of this town by a freight train. He was intoxicated and had laid down on the track to sleep. Thirty-five cars passed over him.

A Mystery No Longer. GLOUCESTER, Mass., May 25.—The body of Thomas Tracy, who mysteriously disappeared six weeks ago, was found floating in Hardy's dock yesterday. He left a widow and family in Beverly.

Good Rules.

These rules issued by a Grand Rapids agent are commended to those going to the World's Fair or West at any time during excursion trips such as Grand Army reunions. The service on our Eastern Roads is head and shoulders above that of our Western brethren in the way of handling baggage. There are some transfer stations, by the way, that can never pass a trunk strap through somehow.

"Don't take any. Use satchels and carry them. If you must take some baggage, plainly mark with your name and home address in full. Check it yourself. Don't allow anyone else to do it. See for yourself that the number on the duplicate given to you is the same as that on the one strapped to the trunk. Check it to Chicago. Don't check it to Exposition Grounds or Suburban Stations. Keep memorandum of check numbers and initials, with date and point at which they were obtained. Take the expressman's badge number. Don't give your checks to transfer agent on train going into Chicago unless he gives you claim check in exchange. Coming back don't give your baggage to expressman unless he give you depot claim check in exchange. If you should get a depot claim check, be sure to get it exchanged at the depot for your railroad check before you leave Chicago. xx.

Only the Scars Remain.

"Among the many testimonials which I see in regard to certain medicines performing cures, cleansing the blood, etc.," writes HENRY HUDSON, of the James Smith Woolen Machinery Co., Philadelphia, Pa., "none impress me more than my own case. Twenty years ago, at the age of 18 years, I had swellings come on my legs, which broke and became running sores. Our family physician could do me no good, and it was feared that the bones would be affected. At last, my good old mother urged me to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I took three bottles, the sores healed, and I have not been troubled since. Only the scars remain, and the memory of the past, to remind me of the good Ayer's Sarsaparilla has done me. I now weigh two hundred and twenty pounds, and am in the best of health. I have been on the road for the past twelve years, have noticed Ayer's Sarsaparilla advertised in all parts of the United States, and always take pleasure in telling what good it did for me."

ON EVERY SOLDIER'S GRAVE.

It's lonesome—sort of lonesome—it's a Sunday day to me.
It 'pears like—more'n any day I nearly ever see!
With the stars and stripes above, a-dut-ter in the air,
On ev'ry soldier's grave I'd love to lay a lily there.

They say, though, Decoration days is ginerly observed
Most ev'rywhere—espeshally by soldier boys that's served—
But me and mother's never went—we seldom git away—
In pint of fact, we're allus home on Decoration day.

They say the old boys marches through the streets in colum's grand,
A-follerin the old war tunes they're playin on the band—
And citzens all join in—and little children, too—
All marchin under shelter of the old red, white and blue.

"WE'VE TRIED THAT—ME AND MOTHER."
With roses! roses! roses!—ev'rybody in the town!
And crowds o' little girls in white, jest fairly loaded down!
Oh! don't the boys know it, from their camp across the hill?
Don't they see they com'ards comin and the old flag wavin still?

Oh, can't they hear the bugle and the rattle of the drum?
Ain't they no way under heavens they can rick-ollet us some?
Ain't they no way we can coax 'em through the roses jest to say
They know that ev'ry day on earth's their Decoration day?

We've tried that—me and mother—where Ellas takes his rest,
In the orchard, in his uniform, and hands 'cross his breast,
And the flag he died for smilin and a-rippin in the breeze
Above his grave, and over that a robin in the trees!

And yit it's lonesome, lonesome—it's a Sunday day to me,
It 'pears like—mor'n any day I nearly ever see!
Still, with the stars and stripes above, a-dut-ter in the air,
On ev'ry soldier's grave I'd love to lay a lily there.

—James Whitcomb Riley.

A GREAT UPRISING.

The Surprising Material and Moral Strength of the Loyal States in 1861.

As the years roll by we get a proper perspective of the civil war, and as we have leisure and opportunity to compare it with other wars we realize the importance of one fact too often overlooked. In our impatience and criticism in 1861-5 we forgot that no war of modern times had been waged by any nation with rulers so little prepared by experience. The soldiers of the Union in 1861 were absolutely new to the art of war, and by an extraordinary combination of circumstances the civil rulers were at the same time almost devoid of experience in practical administration.

The Republican party was led by very new men, whose almost entire experience had been in political opposition. They were indeed ardent patriots, but so far as experience in governing went they were in 1861 just like passengers who might suddenly be called to take charge of a ship going to pieces beneath their feet in a storm which made thrice seasoned mariners pale.

Suddenly they were called upon to deal with the most embarrassing complications in diplomacy, the most difficult problems in finance, the most subtle and complex issues in constitutional law, and to meet demands for military purposes which would have staggered the most powerful monarchies in Europe. Russia, Austria, England and France had in turn owned their incapacity to suddenly mobilize a quarter of a million men. The United States, which had but 16,000 men in its regular army in April, 1861, had before the frosts of autumn fell nearly 700,000 men armed and equipped and in camp or on the march.

And with what success? Comparisons are in this case indeed eloquent. Great Britain's administrative system confessedly broke down in supplying less than 60,000 men in the Crimea. In the winter of 1861 the Washington administration supplied 600,000 men, scattered along a line of 2,500 miles from the mouth of the Potomac to New Mexico. Before the war a revenue of $60,000,000 a year alarmed the nation. In a few months Secretary Chase had to raise $600,000,000 a year, and soon had to double that.

In naval warfare the Americans of April, 1861, were as children, yet in eight months they had established a naval blockade the most thorough in history, and eight more their rams, monitors and ironclads had revolutionized naval warfare.

The energy of the north was indeed wonderful, its reserve of strength vastly greater than itself suspected. To quote a western byword, "We ached with strength." No country in the world was ever stronger for war purposes than were the adhering states in 1861.

And back of all the material resources were the soul, the moral vigor, the fierce and high resolve that the time had come to settle the great issue once for all. Only twice in all history has there been anything at all approaching it—the uprisings of Holland against Spain, and of France in her early revolutionary era. Time, instead of lessening, heightened our appreciation of that great and truly national movement. The perspective of 30 odd years gives us a more inspiring view of the great uprising of the north.

J. H. BEADLE.

Thoughts For the Hour.

To get away from the blood and enmity of the struggle is the first effort of patriots recovering from war. To commemorate the virtue and heroism of the army is to ennoble those traits in men by which nations are molded and upheld.

THE STORY THEY TELL.

How the Banners and Roses Recall the Virtue of the Dead.

THE flags and the flowers blend like currents of the same waters on Memorial day. Flowers are the banners of the throbbing under-world and seem to say, "Here in the bosom of the earth are beauty and grace and purity and strength." And when the red, white and blue emblems are thrown into the floral fields of nature a harmony so perfect is created that profusion either in bunting or in roses cannot lead to a loss of balance in the ensemble. To the soldier's mind this mingling of colors as loving hands plant flowers beside the little Grand Army markers at the graves of fallen comrades brings up the idea of re-enforcements, as though the story of heroism, and of devotion, and of victory recalled by Old Glory was being repeated again and again by each cluster of bright petals that share with it the gentle airs of heaven.

Naturally whenever a soldier's eye lights upon the starry banner his thoughts go back to war days. He sees in it a facsimile of the one borne in front of his regiment in every charge. Yet it was not a battleflag in the strict sense of the word when he followed it to the guns or unfurled it upon the line of battle. Men looked up to it as the representative of what the nation was fighting for rather than a signal for combat, a challenge to hostility. Now that the strife is a thing of the far past the battleflags are relics and the stars and stripes a live symbol of live ideas. All this is shown in the memorial observances, when the flag and its defenders are honored through the same act and in the same breath that glorifies the reign of peace. Flowers come in with settled peace, and love and tenderness are the meaning they convey.

The sentiments of Decoration day are and should be intensely patriotic and not martial, conservatively peaceful and not aggressive. The dead are to be remembered and honored because they fought for a principle and not because by any word or act they betrayed a love of glory. It is the emblem of undying affection, a sprig of evergreen, that is first placed upon the warrior's grave as a token from the living when the Grand Army opens the ceremony. Then follows the white rose to symbolize the purity and unselfish devotion of the patriot dead. Lastly the laurel of victory, token of a triumph that is the reward of purity and a proof of devotion. Victory crowned the soldier's trials and made the memory of them worth preserving.

GEORGE L. KILMER.

AN OLD CAMP MINSTREL.

He Played Simple Melodies For Grant and Sherman.

One of the attaches of the North Dakota senate house at Bismarck is an old colored man named Blakely Durant. His war history was made under the camp sobriquets of "Blake" and "Old Shady," and the last mentioned was given to him on account of a song by that title, which he often sang at the headquarters of the Army of the Tennessee. Grant, Sherman, McPherson and other generals of the western army were entertained by the simple melodies of the musical darky, who accompanied his songs by twanging the guitar, which he handled skillfully.

"OLD SHADY."

"Old Shady" was the favorite piece of General Grant, and he called for it whenever he spent the evening at McPherson's campfire, where Blake was employed as a caterer for the mess. The song on the lips of a real contraband in the bivouacs of the liberating army was particularly appropriate. It ran as follows:

Oh, yah, yah, darkies, come laugh with me,
What do white folks say—dat "Old Shady" am free?
Don't you see dat de jubilee
Am comin, comin? Hail, mighty day!

CHORUS.

Den, away, away,
I cannot stay
No longer.
Hooray, hooray,
For I am going home.

Ole massa got scared, and so did his lady;
Dis chile breaks for old "Uncle Aby."
Open de gates fo' rout here's "Old Shady"
Comin, comin. Hail, mighty day!

Goodby, Massa Jeff. Goodby, Massa Steve.
'Xcuse dis darky for takin his leave.
I 'xpec' soon dat you'll heah Uncle Aby
Comin, comin. Hail, mighty day!

Goodby, hard work without any pay,
I'm goin up north where de good folks say
Dat white wheat bread and a dollar a day
Am a-comin, comin. Hail, mighty day!

Oh, I got a wife, and we got a baby
Away up north in the lower Canady.
Won't dey laugh when dey see "Old Shady"
Comin, comin? Hail, mighty day!

Blake, or "Old Shady," as he was best known, joined the army as cook for the officers of the Seventy-first Ohio regiment and was on the field at Shiloh. He afterward shipped on the steamer Magnolia, which was used as transport for Grant's headquarters at the opening of the Vicksburg campaign. During that time "Old Shady" came to the notice of the commander, and he engaged him as cook; but, true to his vagrant nature, the darky asked for transportation home on a brief visit as a bonus and failed to report back for duty at the end of his furlough. Subsequently he fell in with the steward of McPherson's mess, was employed as cook for a time and then became chief caterer.

"Old Shady's" song made a hit by reason of the patronage of the generals and was taken up by the Lombard brothers, who managed a band of singers that often entertained the soldiers in their camps during the winter season. The Lombards learned the song at McPherson's quarters, where the colored minstrel sang it for them over and over until they knew it by heart. Finally it became a popular campaign song and had its day with "Suwanee River," "Ole Virginny," "John Brown's Body" and other airs appealing to the sentiment of the hour.

When she loses a child the Japanese mother does not wring her hands and look up to heaven. She sits with folded hands, sunken head, her eyes looking into her lap.

"Fairlop oak," the Titan of the Hainault forest, which was uprooted by a great windstorm in the year 1830, was 100 feet high and 36 feet in circumference.

The butts at the Town Farm Range are to be rebuilt. Mr. Ingalls will do the work of reconstruction.

There was no session of the High School to-day.

Civil engineer Farnum has nearly completed his survey of streets.

An open electric car has been running on the Methuen and North Andover line this week.

Mrs. William B. Parkhurst of Lowell was visiting old friends in town yesterday.

The County Institute for High School teachers was held in Lawrence to-day. Principal Flagg and Miss Sargent attended.

Another son announced his presence at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Carney, Second Street, last Sunday morning.

Miss Alicia M. Keegan has been chosen historian and prophet of the class of '93.

The entertainment and sale of the United Lady Friends is to be in Odd Fellows Hall this evening. Aprons, ice-cream, flowers and other articles will be for sale. Entertainment will be given by local talent.

Among those from this town arrested for intoxication in Haverhill last Saturday night were two persons giving the names of William and John A. Talva. Who were they?

Rev. A. H. Amory is to accompany Bishop Lawrence to the World's Fair. They leave May 30th and return June 9th.

The Ladies Circle of the M. E. Church are to have a "mam supper," Wednesday evening, June 7th. A pleasing entertainment will also be provided. Admission, including supper, 25 cents.

Four men from Lawrence were found fishing in Lake Cochichewick, Sunday, by Chief Robinson. No fish were found in their possession however. Notices to prevent illegal fishing have been posted on trees about the shores of the lake.

An apron sale and entertainment conducted by the North Andover Charitable Union will be held in the Unitarian vestry, Wednesday, June 7th. Doors will be open at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, and in the evening entertainment probably of a dramatic nature will be furnished. Admission 15 cents.

Mr. Albert Berry, who was severely injured in the head last week by the kick of a horse, is now in a precarious condition. Dr. Richardson, the eminent surgeon of Boston, assisted by Dr. Morrill, attended Mr. Berry at his home yesterday and extracted several pieces of bone from the skull. The patient was unconscious during the day and his condition was a source of great anxiety to his family.

The Boston Journal tells the story of a turtle which was captured in North Andover in 1870 and owing to its large size, the year was then cut into his shell. He was not seen again for ten years. Since then dates bearing 1880, 1885, 1888, and 1891 were marked on a metal tag attached to the turtle's shell. On Wednesday, the 17th, he was found in Salem and 1893 was added to the list. It is thought that the turtle was 40 years old.

Mr. John Ryan, who was driving rapidly up Main Street at about 10.30 o'clock Wednesday morning, was met, when near the residence of Mr. H. W. Field, by two large wagons loaded with supplies from Stevens Mills. The hind wagon and the one belonging to Mr. Ryan collided suddenly and the latter was thrown heavily to the ground, becoming unconscious. Neighbors hearing the crash, ran to his assistance and he soon regained consciousness, with no further injuries than being badly bruised. His horse, with the whistle-tree attached, at once started homeward leaving the wagon badly damaged by the roadside. Mr. Henry Keniston who was near by at once offered the services of his team and conveyed Mr. Ryan and his damaged property to his home.

Last Monday noon an open carriage containing two young gentlemen from Harvard College was run into at the eastern crossing on Osgood Street by a hand-car and one wheel nearly demolished. The horses, which were driven tandem, freed themselves from the carriage and ran through the Centre to Andover, where one was stopped at the Elm House. The other was overtaken and stopped some two miles south of Andover by Messrs. Albert McDonald and Fred Royal, who followed them as quickly as possible. The horses were apparently uninjured, and only a small portion of the harness was missing. The whole turn-out was a very valuable one, one belonged to a gentleman in Boston whose son, one of the occupants, had been visiting at Mayor Taylor's in Haverhill, and was on his way home when the accident occurred.

Rev. E. L. Gulick of Cambridge will occupy the pulpit at the Congregational Church, Sunday. A memorial address before the veterans and sons of veterans will be given in the vestry in the evening at 6.45 o'clock. All are invited.

The strawberry festival of Bradstreet Colony of Pilgrim Fathers Tuesday evening, June 6th, is for members only.

The following pupils of the Senior class of the Johnson High School will receive their diplomas of graduation on the evening of June 29th: Misses Mary E. Geaney, Mabel Fuller, Mabel Robinson, Alicia M. Keegan, and Master Harry Lynch.

The programme at Wynona Lodge Monday evening consisted of readings and dialogues. The members were pleased to add to their number the Rev. Henry Matthews.

Misses Mary and Virginia Stevens start to-day with a party of Raymond excursionists for the Columbian Exposition.

Invitations have been received by many in this town to the marriage reception of Miss Bertha Marie Bly, daughter of Mr. Charles L. Bly of Bradford, Mass., and Mr. John Osgood Loring of this town on Tuesday, June 6, from 12.30 to 2 o'clock.

The paving stones in the electric track at the crossing of the street near the top of the town house hill have all been relaid, making a vast improvement for carriage travel.

Mr. and Mrs. Ilsey are visiting their daughter, Mrs. W. A. Hall.

Mr. McEvoy is having a spacious henery built on his place at the Centre. Mr. Ingalls is doing the work.

Miss Mary G. Carleton and Mrs. Anna M. Stevens were chosen delegates to attend the Unitarian Convention in Boston, May 30.

The annual meeting of the Helping Hand for the election of officers will be held at Mrs. Charles Farnham's on Thursday, June 1. A full attendance is desired.

During the high wind of last Tuesday afternoon the saw-mill belonging to Mr. James P. Butterfield on the William Jenkins place was entirely destroyed by fire which reached the wood and burned nearly to the Middleton line.

Thursday afternoon the workmen at Mr. E. W. Greene's in carting manure from a large pile in the field uncovered snow in considerable quantity, some of the cakes being two feet square.

Notwithstanding printed notices to the contrary, bicyclists continue to monopolize the sidewalks, much to the discomfort of the foot-travelling public.

Y. P. M. L. S. S. meets this evening.

The annual meeting of Ridgewood Cemetery Association recently adjourned occurred at the office of Mr. Isaac F. Osgood Saturday afternoon. The treasurer's report was read and accepted. Isaac F. Osgood was chosen clerk and treasurer. The trustees elected are Hon. Moses T. Stevens, Moses Foster of Andover, James T. Johnson, John A. Loring, Joseph H. Stone. At an after-meeting of the trustees Hon. Moses T. Stevens was chosen president, and Isaac F. Osgood, superintendent.

Mr. Fred Weil is serving as one of the guards at the Columbian exposition.

The time for bids for the construction of a retaining wall, railed and graded, the same to be built on Sutton Street between the house of Mrs. Hubbard and Shawshen bridge, expired at 6 o'clock last evening. The specifications were as follows:

Foundation shall be dug 3 ft 6 in wide, 2 ft deep, to be filled with stone, wall to be built 3 ft wide at bottom, 2 ft on top, from 5 ft 6 in to 9 ft 6 in high, 610 ft in length, taking about 535 perch of stone. Grading on level with top of wall to electric car track (about 850 cubic yds).

Railing: 610 ft long, 3 1/2 ft high, Three rails 1 1/2 by 6 in spruce lumber planed on one side, 11-4 in square iron posts, six bolts 5-16 iron to each post, holes to be drilled 8 in into the stones to receive the posts; posts to be set ten feet apart.

Said job to be completed on or before Sept. 30, 1893. The work to be done in a workmanlike manner and to the satisfaction of the Board of Road Commissioners. In accordance with the above plan but two bids were received by the Road Commissioners at the meeting last evening. Joseph Trombley estimated $2021.50 Edward Adams, $1844.25 Mr. Adams' bid was accepted.
